What are the Risks?

The Fund does not offer any capital guarantee or protection and you may not get back the amount invested. The Fund is subject to the following risks which are materially relevant: Index License Risk: To utilise an Index, the Fund may need to have a licence agreement signed with the Index Provider. If, at any time in respect of an Index, the licence granted terminates or disputed, impaired or ceases to exist, the Directors may be forced to replace the Index with another Index. Such a substitution or any delay in such a substitution may have an adverse impact on the Sub-Fund. Index related risk: the risk that quantitative techniques used in creating the Index the Fund seeks to track do not generate the intended result, or that the portfolio of the Fund deviates from its Index composition or performance. Index Tracking Risk: No financial instrument or set of investment techniques enables the returns of any Index to be reproduced or tracked exactly. Changes in the investments of any Sub-Fund and re-weightings of the relevant Index may give rise to various transaction costs, operating expenses or inefficiencies which may adversely impact a Sub-Fund's tracking of an Index. Passive Investment Risk: An Index Tracking Sub-Fund will be negatively affected by general declines in the securities and asset classes represented in its Index. Because Index Tracking Sub-Funds are not "actively" managed, Market disruptions and regulatory restrictions could have an adverse effect on an Index Tracking Sub-Fund's ability to adjust its exposure to the required levels. Foreign Exchange Hedging Risk: Hedging transactions are designed to reduce, as much as possible, the currency risk for investors. No intentional leveraging should result from currency hedging transactions. There is no guarantee that attempts to hedge currency risk will be successful and no hedging strategy can eliminate currency risk entirely. Should a hedging strategy be incomplete or unsuccessful, the value of that Sub-Fund's assets and income can remain vulnerable to fluctuations in currency exchange rate movements. Complete information on the risks of investing in the Fund are set out in the Fund's prospectus.

Glossary

Total Expense Ratio: Total Expense Ratio (TER) includes the fees paid to the management company, the investment manager and the depository, as well as certain other expenses. The TER is calculated by taking the relevant main material costs paid out over the 12-month period indicated and dividing them by the average net assets over the same period. The TER does not include all expenses paid by the fund (for example, it does not include what the fund pays for buying and selling securities). For a comprehensive list of the types of costs deducted from fund assets, see the prospectus. For recent all-in annual costs, as well as hypothetical performance scenarios that show the effects that different levels of return could have on an investment in the fund, where applicable, see the KID. Product Structure: The Product Structure indicates whether an ETF is holding physical securities (i.e. Physical) or whether it is tracking the index performance using derivatives (swaps, i.e. Synthetic). Methodology: The Methodology indicates whether an ETF is holding all index securities in the same weight as the index (i.e. Physical Replication) or whether an optimised subset of index securities is used (i.e. Optimised) in order to efficiently track index performance. Comparator: Benchmark is used for comparing Fund performance, but is not a constraint to Fund Investment. Price to Book: The price per share of a stock divided by its book value (i.e., net worth) per share. For a portfolio, the value represents a weighted average of the stocks it holds. Price to Earnings (12-Month Trailing) is the share price of a stock, divided by its per-share earnings over the past year. For a portfolio, the value represents a weighted average of the stocks it holds. Standard Deviation: Measure of the degree to which a fund's return varies from the average of its previous returns. The larger the standard deviation, the greater the likelihood (and risk) that a fund's performance will fluctuate from the average return.
